MUNDOS

Multicultural Neuropsychology Program

MUNDOS is a program at the Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) Psychology Assessment Center (PAC). It provides neuropsychological services and enriched training opportunities for clinical psychology students who are interested in multicultural neuropsychology.

The program is co-directed by Yakeel T. Quiroz, PhD and Janet C. Sherman, PhD.

Who is eligible for this program?

MUNDOS provides culturally and linguistically appropriate neuropsychological evaluations and interventions to Latino adults and elderly with a variety of disorders that impact brain and cognitive functioning, including, but not limited to, dementia, epilepsy, brain tumors, and learning disabilities.

We focus on individuals with diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds, including individuals who are monolingual and bilingual Spanish/English speakers.

Neuropsychological Assessments

A neuropsychological evaluation consists of a clinical interview with the patient and/or the patient's family member, and administration of a battery of tests designed to evaluate different aspects of cognitive functioning, for example, attention, memory and problem-solving. The patient is asked to perform tasks that require verbal responses (i.e., answering questions with spoken responses) or non-verbal responses (i.e., drawing or using the computer). The evaluations are entirely non-invasive. Depending on the referral question, evaluations generally last from 2 to 5 hours, with breaks to rest as needed.

Referrals

Medical specialists or primary care physicians affiliated with Partners make referrals for neuropsychological and/or psychological testing (evaluation). We do NOT accept 'self referrals'.

Please note that if you are a health care professional making a referral and you are not affiliated with MGH, you need to explicitly state in your EPIC referral that the patient needs to be evaluated by MUNDOS and/or needs a Spanish evaluation.

Questions about referrals may be addressed to your referring doctor or to the Psychology Assessment Center: phone (617) 643-3997 | fax (617) 724-3726
